

Dear Sir/Madam,

Today I received 5 calls from Bank of America. In the last 2 days, this equals 8 calls. I am a very busy person. When I told her I was on the do-not-call-list, she promptly called back to tell me I had to write (B of A) a letter asking them not to call. That it didn't matter if I was on the list or not. I DID NOT ASK THEM TO CALL in the first place. Further more, I asked her not to call again. She said she would continue to call? Now that's arrogance, and annoyance! When I need banking information, I go to my bank. PLEASE STOP THIS HARASSMENT. Thank you for your time and attention.
